

GLENN W. ANDERSON

Principal Architect

Education: University of Tennessee
Bachelor of Architecture 1977

Registration: Licensed Professional Architect in Utah, California, Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Minnesota, Montana, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Texas, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Tennessee, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, South Carolina, Alabama, Missouri, North Carolina, Alaska, Ohio, Virginia, Florida, . NCARB Certification #43572

Experience:

1998-Present	GA Architect
1992-1998	Smith, Layton, Anderson Architects, Planners
1986-1992	Pasker, Gould, Ames & Weaver Architects
1985-1986	McQuay/Burtensha Architects
1985	WCSA Architects, Inc.
1984-1985	Gerald R. Nichols & Associates
1983-1984	Carpenter, Stringham Architects
1981-1983	Dean L. Gustavson Associates
1978-1981	GNP Architects
1977-1978	Muir & Chong Architects

Background: Mr. Anderson has had over 20 years extensive experience in many types of building design and construction. He began as a laborer, carpenter and flooring specialist during college. After graduation, he worked largely on commercial projects with involvement in several residential projects annually. Project types he has worked on include medical, government, housing, schools, hotels, restaurants, offices, retail facilities and tenant improvements.

During the past several years, he has been involved with Sportsman's Warehouse as the Project Architect on more than 61 buildings from the east to west coast and Alaska. Prior to that, he spent seven years as Project Architect on Price Savers and Pace Membership Warehouses, completing over 20 buildings in nine different states. His involvement in all aspects of each project, including but not limited to planning & zoning, construction documents, construction management, interpretation of various codes, and vast understanding of most types of construction, make Mr. Anderson an excellent and extremely knowledgeable Project Architect.
